1,000 POLICEMEN HUNT GIRL SLAYER

COVER GREATER BOSTON

WITH GIANT DRAG NET

Taken by Boston American Staff Photographer at 11 O'clock Today.

FIRST ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH OF THE MURDER SUIT CASE.

This is the only tangible clue to the slayer of the young woman whose torso was found floating off the Winthrop Yacht Club house Thursday night. Find the owner of this suit case and it will probably be a simple matter to establish the identity of the murderer and the identity of his victim.

Can YOU Help Solve Suit Case Mystery?

YOU may have the connecting link of information, apparently trivial to you, which may solve the ghastly mystery of death revealed by the finding of a girl's dismembered body in a suit case. If you have, the BOSTON AMERICAN wants it, and will place it in the hands of the police.

- For instance:
- If you are a cobbler or harness maker, have you AT ANY TIME put a new handle on a dark tan or olive suit case?
 - Have you seen a man or woman carrying a suit case of that color, at any time recently?
 - Have you seen such a suit case in a wagon, express room or elsewhere?
 - Are any female members of your family missing? Or do you know of any?
 - If you can answer any of these questions communicate with the BOSTON AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, by telegraph, telephone or in person. What YOU know may solve this vast crime.

Fragment of Flesh Found on Beach at Winthrop Today May Be Part of Human Body---Turned Over to the Police for Investigation.

Over all of Boston a gigantic dragnet has been thrown out, and to-day 1,000 policemen are searching every nook and cranny for a clue which may solve the ghastly mystery of death which appeared with the finding of the headless and mutilated body of a young woman in a dress suit case floating off the Winthrop Yacht Club.

This process, too, is carried into Winthrop, where the body was found, and into adjacent towns. Particular attention is paid to the West End, where, the police have reason to believe, the crime was committed. From there they think the olive green suit case with its burden of death was taken, either in a vehicle or by hand, and thrown into the water.

To-day a piece of flesh weighing about nine pounds, and apparently part of a human body, was found on the beach back of the Point Shirley Club.

Now, according to the police, the first vital point is to establish the ownership of the suit case. Captain Joseph Dugan of the Boston police has suggested that the newspapers aid in unravelling the mystery. Through them, and the 1,000 Boston policemen who have instructions to pursue every possible clue, however trivial, he seeks light on the greatest mystery New England has ever known.

Captain Dugan said to-day to the BOSTON AMERICAN:

Looks to Newspapers.

"It is up to the newspapers. They can, through publicity, obtain information that otherwise never would be given. A newspaper can reach 100,000 persons where a detective can question ten. In a great mystery like this the unexpected is the most likely to happen. Some obscure person may read something in a newspaper which calls to his mind an incident, unthought about at the time, which may, when told to the police, give a clue that points directly to the identity of the criminal or the victim.

"The murder case begins with the question: 'Who owns the suit case?'

"It had been repaired. A new handle had been put on.

"Who by?"

"Not by a man who makes a trade of such work.

"Find the man who did it and he can tell whom he did it for.

"Find that man and you have the owner or somebody who can tell who used it to hide the ghastly secret of this crime.

"Newspapers should give the most minute particulars in their description of the suit case. The man who restored it may read and say to himself, 'Why, that is like the suit case I fixed up for So and So.' Then "

GAYNOR AND GREENE LOSE; MUST RETURN

PETITION DENIED BY JUDGE IN MONTREAL TO-DAY.

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—The Gaynor-Greene petition was dismissed to-day. They have to go back to the United States. The two men are accused of defrauding the United States in connection with the contracts to improve the harbor of Savannah, Ga. They fled to Canada while under indictment and for several years have successfully fought extradition.

Will tell his story to a newspaper and the police. Then the police will have a clue that is positive and tangible.

"That suit case is the key to the mystery. It will unlock identity.

Suit Case Is the Key.

"Print everything known about it. Describe it to the most trivial detail. Photograph it from every focus. It is mute and inanimate, but it can tell the story to any man who can read the riddle.

ULTIMATUM TO TURKEY FROM SERBIA

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The correspondent of the Central News at Vienna wires that a dispatch received there from Belgrade says that Serbia has sent an ultimatum to Turkey in reference to the violation of the Serbian frontier by Albanians and Turkish troops.

Serbia demands that the officers commanding the troops which are charged with violating the frontier shall be dismissed; that an indemnity shall be paid to families who have suffered at the hands of the Turkish troops; and that the Turks shall give an apology for the incident.

ARMED POSSE TRAILS FUGITIVE TO WOODS

BRIDGEWATER, Sept. 23.—Armed with revolvers, shotguns, clubs and other weapons a posse of 200 men, divided into three parties, have surrounded the thick woods just northeast of Prospect Hill country, and are gradually drawing a cordon around a man they believe to be Albert R. Clark. The dangerous fugitive negro convict, who escaped from the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane a week ago, was seen by the posse at the State farm, one of the places where he is believed to be searching for the convict and his pal, Frank B. Wiley, a man believed to be a Frenchman in the morning. The men were still carrying a heavy rifle. When the officer called to him to stop he ran into the woods. The officer then his revolver, but before he could shoot the man had disappeared.

Officer Benton immediately notified the State Farm officials, and Dr. Alfred R. Clark, who has charge of the hospital, summoned Sheriff Blackmore, Sheriff Simmons and Deputy Sheriff Blanton. Immediately ordered horses and started out, mounted by the posse. They are now in the woods and are expected to have the man within a very short time.

These woods are very thick and afford many places for a man to hide, but the posse believe they will get the fugitive before daylight. It is expected the man will put up a fight and they are prepared to shoot to kill if necessary.

A Bridgewater policeman says he saw a negro whom he identified as Francis from the descriptions sent home from trying to break into a drug store in Bridgewater during the night. Just as he was about to close in on the man and arrest him he saw the officer and dashed away. It was after three and a half hours that he and his posse chased him into the woods.

THE MURDER--WINTHROP--THE SUIT CASE?

BY BOSTON AMERICAN STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER.

PANORAMIC VIEW OF WINTHROP HARBOR, SHOWING POINTS OF INTEREST IN SUIT CASE MYSTERY

Police Drag Net Covers Boston in Effort to Find Slayer of the Young Woman.

Gradual culmination of story after story which might have had a bearing on the mystery has brought the police to the fact with the problem of finding two men who are believed to be either the actual slayer of the girl or at least the persons who threw the mutilated torso into the water.

These men were seen driving a covered wagon. They stopped on Shirley street, Wintthrop, and cast a bulky package into the water. That might have been the body of the evidently innocent woman who was slain. It is not now thought, however, that it dropped it into the water, but lay near the shore.

The police have an accurate description of the man who was seen driving the wagon. He is a man of about 35 years of age, of medium height, with dark hair, and a mustache. He is believed to be the slayer of the young woman. The police are now searching for him.

Two new clues found. Coupled with these developments, which the police regard as the most important they have yet seen, is the fact that two new clues have been found.

The first of these is a small piece of clothing, which was found in the water. It is believed to be a piece of the dress which was worn by the young woman. The second clue is a small piece of clothing, which was found in the water. It is believed to be a piece of the dress which was worn by the young woman.

The police are now searching for the man who was seen driving the wagon. They are also searching for the man who was seen with the woman. The police are now searching for the man who was seen driving the wagon.

Mrs. Hoff of Beacon street, East Boston, told the police that she saw a man walking along the waterfront street carrying a heavy dress suit early Thursday afternoon. What she saw was a man who was walking along the waterfront street.

The importance of the stories of the man who was seen driving the wagon is in the theory of the police and men who know the Wintthrop harbor. It is believed that the man who was seen driving the wagon is the slayer of the young woman.

Police seek missing girls. At least six girls are missing in Boston. The police are now searching for them. They are also searching for the man who was seen driving the wagon.

Result of the autopsy. From South Boston a clinic which the police are investigating. The autopsy of the young woman has been completed. The results are as follows:

Gratified and Comforting. The police are now searching for the man who was seen driving the wagon. They are also searching for the man who was seen with the woman. The police are now searching for the man who was seen driving the wagon.

NEAL THINKS CRIME WAS DONE IN BOSTON

"I think there are excellent reasons for believing that the operation was performed in one of the many private hospitals in the city. Perhaps, as has happened many times before, the girl was sent out from the hospital before she was in a condition to go home, and the disposition of the remains made then."

DEPUTY CHIEF NEAL.

The hints have been carefully preserved by the police in Boston for the body of the young woman. It is believed that the body was thrown into the water. The police are now searching for the man who was seen driving the wagon.

SAW MAN THROW BUNDLE INTO WATER

An important clue in the case of the mutilated trunk of a woman found at Wintthrop Beach, is believed to be contained in the experience of Conductor Frank M. Baicker of the Boston Beach & Lynn railroad, who declares that he saw the man who threw the dress suit case into the water.

Mr. Baicker lives at No. 128 Wintthrop street, Wintthrop Centre, and was fishing from his boat off Point Shirley Thursday afternoon. "I am morally certain that I have seen the two men who are responsible for the murder of this woman, and who threw her body into the water," he says.

"I was out in my boat looking off Point Shirley Thursday morning and returned to my home, which is on the deserted pier, reaching it some time about two o'clock. When I started to go around the corner of the building I was confronted by two men who were sitting there. One was a little boy who was playing with a top ship. He was a dark suit and a blue cap, and as I came around the corner he stepped out and looked at me."

"When I had approached within a few feet of the larger of the two men, I saw him throw a bundle into the water. I dropped it into the water. I saw him throw it into the water. I saw him throw it into the water. I saw him throw it into the water."

"I was out for a little fishing trip. Can't you give me some bait?" "I told them that I hadn't any, as I've been out most all day myself. The two men stood really dumb, and I was somewhat surprised not to see any fishing hook or pole with them. There weren't any in the carriage, as I could see, nor on the pier."

"The biggest man I should think was Tallin or a foreman of some kind. He was very dark, but he spoke perfect English, without an accent of any kind. While I stood looking at them they suddenly turned toward the water and threw their hands up in the air. They were shouting and shouting. They were shouting and shouting. They were shouting and shouting."

"I wish I could find the little boy with the dark suit and blue cap who was with them. They were playing with his top ship at the time. He probably saw them throw the case into the water. If they were the men who did it, they would have seen the case go in. The tall, dark man evidently had money, for his clothes were well made, of expensive black material, and his shoes were also of good quality. He was naturally dark-complexioned. I could see, but his color was slightly noticeable."

"The other fellow didn't seem to be an prospect. He had on light blue trousers, which didn't match his gray coat, and his gray shoes. The bigger they had was of the Goddard type and the horns was a brown suit. They were both on the pier."

PLYMOUTH IN COURT PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Noted Actor Held in Jail on Charge of Assault on His Friend.

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 23.—Lending notoriety upon his heavy make-up and speaking as calmly as though addressing a friendly audience before the footlights, Henry Plummer, the actor, pleaded not guilty to assault with intent to kill upon his friend and agent, Captain George Martin, in a dramatic venue, as the clerk read the complaint, he said.

"My name is Plummer, or Plummer, not Edwin, as that charge reads. If it applies to me it had better be changed to 'Plummer'."

The judge announced that as the complaint might any minute be changed to homicide, he would increase the bail from $2,000 to $5,000.

Plummer asked if his property at Silver Lake could not be used as security, but the court refused to accept it. He was then taken back to jail.

Shortly after his return to his cell, the actor was found in a state of collapse from the nervous strain he has been under during the past few days. Dr. Hill was called and prescribed for him.

Plummer is making a vigorous investigation into the matter, and has been in the city since his arrest. He is now in the city since his arrest. He is now in the city since his arrest.

"It is of consequence for all and most of the country for the common man and the poor that these forces for new wealth making should be freed and not developed. Our country is not too rich, but far too poor. The main thing is the filling up of wealth. If little wealth is made, it is not worth the trouble. It is not worth the trouble. It is not worth the trouble."

"CRIMED PRESUMPTUOUS IN SAYING BOSTON WILL HAVE NO OPERA SEASON," SAYS PAYNE

Savage's Company Finds Hub Appreciative of Good Music and Will Produce Grand Opera Here.

"We think it is a little presumptuous for the manager of the foreign-vocal artists to declare that Boston will have no opera season this year, simply because his productions do not pay. I think the truth is that the Metropolitan management fails to realize that Boston is a long way ahead of many other cities in its musical taste."

This enthusiastic note is made by Frank Payne, representing Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera Company, regarding the declaration of the Here Director of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company that he will not bring his grand opera troupe to Boston any more because Boston does not appreciate grand opera. In a statement given to New York Mr. Payne says:

"Boston has given such encouragement to grand opera in England in the past three years that I think we can safely say that the time is at hand when music lovers will prefer opera in their own language to the foreign article."

VENEZUELA AND FRANCE VERGE ON HOSTILITIES

PARIS, Sept. 23 France and Venezuela are on the verge of war. The contempt the Venezuelan government has shown for M. Talguy, the French chargé d'affaires at Caracas, over the high-handed action of officials in closing the offices of the French Table Company, has brought about a complete rupture of affairs between the two nations. President Rouvier will demand that the South American nation disavow its actions and request an apology from President Castro. If it is not forthcoming a naval demonstration will be ordered.

The officials directly charged with handling Venezuelan questions explained the reasons for the outbreak of the controversy as follows:

Venezuela supports the closing of the French Table Company's offices in Caracas on the ground of the decision of the Venezuelan courts. France does not question the right of the Venezuelan government to take that the decision of the courts cannot be appealed. But she insists that the executive branch is not authorized to take such a branch to seize and shut up the Early in the morning Mrs. Clinton Fletcher, at whose home Miss Stevens was staying, noticed a strong odor of gas coming from Miss Stevens's room. Calling her maid, they forced the door and found Miss Stevens lying in bed, unconscious. A gas jet was partly turned on.

The Beef Trust Pleads Guilty—AND IS FINED. A Few Dollars of Stolen Money Sets the Score

But what comes after the confession?

AND THE CRIMINALS THAT ROB THE PEOPLE THROUGH THE BEEF TRUST, THE MEN THAT ADD TO THE LIVING EXPENSE OF EVERY FAMILY IN THE UNITED STATES GO FROM THE COURT FREE MEN

"FOR THE MAJESTY OF THE LAW MUST BE UPHELD."

They are sent to jail, although it may mean that their families are put out on the sidewalk, that their children go hungry.

How long will it take the people of the United States to realize that if they want to stop the predatory acts of the big thieves THEY MUST PUT THOSE THIEVES IN JAIL!

When will the farce end and our republic become a reality?

Probably you hold insurance in some company—perhaps not one of those under fire to-day, but an "old line" company.

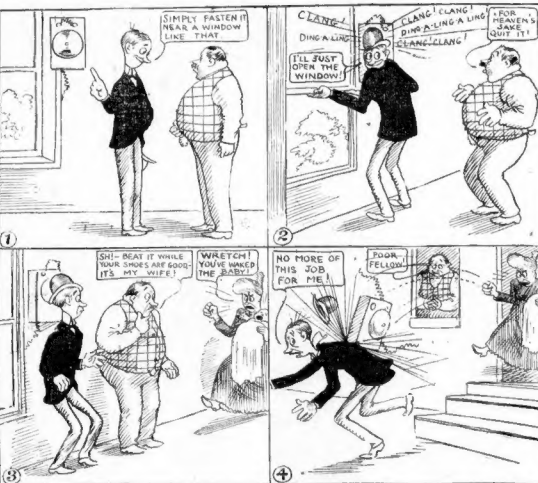

Over in New Zealand, where the State attends to this matter, where syndicates and "unentered assets" are not, and where it is not the practice to take $50,000 of other people's money to support national honor—and corporate parasites—the same sum would buy $10,000 to $15,000 insurance.

This is the course the plunderers fear. This is the course the policy holders should take.

A national association of policy holders, with chapters in each State can readily be organized and would be the most effective machine for the cleansing of the insurance companies.

Only a Policy Holder

By James J. Montague

*Though the populace grieves when the gentlemen thieve
Grow hungrier, sicker and bolder,
I care not a bit—I'm accustomed to it—*

I like to have my money go to bribe the G. O. P.
Although I am a Democrat, it's all the same to me;
I've saved to pay my premiums until I'm almost broke,

But when they go for fancy balls I think it's quite a joke.

And never get hot, though they take all I've got,
I'm only a policy holder.

I like to think my savings help to gild the marble hall
That answers for an office for the genial John McCall;
I like to think Paul Morton gets a princely salary.

A part of which is paid from what might chance belong to me.

I once held belief that a thief was a thief,
But now that my wrath has grown colder,
I know 'ere we chance in the game of finance—

I know I's no caduce in the game of pnance—
 I'm only a policy holder.
